Watching a show in the wonderful gem that is the Oakhurst Insurance George Arts Theatre is an experience that should be on the bucket list of every person that live in or visit the Garden Route.

The rich history of the building is wonderful and the new renovations make the experience extra special.

Watching the shows, it is easy to forget that this is an amateur theatre and that the people on the stage all have other day jobs or attend various school or universities in our area.

They fit the time-consuming rehearsal into their busy schedules, do their homework while waiting for their turn on the stage and make time to study for important tests.

When you are involved in a production you get to perform, act, create or see your vision come to life; but you sacrifice family time and often other plans often has to be put on hold. But age differences and personal issues are set aside and everyone in the cast and crew focus on one thing; giving their all for the production. The reward is substantial. The cast and crew love what they do and to see the enjoyment in people's faces are wonderful.

So meet the cast and crew of Khumba ! We can't wait to entertain you and remember to stay for a chat or a photo after the show. Your enjoyment is our reward.
